Auburn gymnastics dates back to the late 1890's, but it was not until the late 1960's that the sport began to make its mark at the University.

It was not until the 1990's that it was brought into the national spotlight. In the 1990's, the Tigers went to the NCAA Finals twice under retired head coach Robert Dillard.

Dillard also led the Tigers to the first-ever national championship of any kind for a women's sport at Auburn, as the Tigers won the NIT title in 1993 and 1995.

The Tigers formally began competing in intercollegiate gymnastics in 1965 under Ed Bengston.

It took only four years for both the men's and women's teams to capture both state and regional championships.

The Auburn men's team won the first of three consecutive Southeastern AAU Championships in 1966.

The women's team took just a little longer, but the wait was worth it. In 1969, the women as well as the men claimed the Alabama Collegiate Championships, just one year before the program was discontinued.

Bengston restored the program in 1974 after the four-year layoff. Title IX resulted in the first financial aid for an Auburn gymnast when Jeanne Denoon-Amos received $150.

Before Dillard took control of the program in 1986, Tabor Medill had the helm of the Tigers. Medill was the coach from 1981-85.

Dillard guided Auburn to 10 regional appearances, which included a string of eight-straight.

A fire destroyed the practice facility in 1995 putting a halt to that run. Dillard guided Auburn back to regional competition in 1999.

Shannon Edmondson was the first gymnast at Auburn to earn All-American honors as she finished eighth on the bars in 1991. Becky Erwin became the first Tiger gymnast to earn All-America honors twice. Erwin finished seventh in the all-around in 1993 and fourth on the floor in 1994.

Erwin was also the first Auburn gymnast to score a perfect 10. She did it on the floor in 1993.

Jeff Thompson became the Tigers' fourth head coach in 2000.

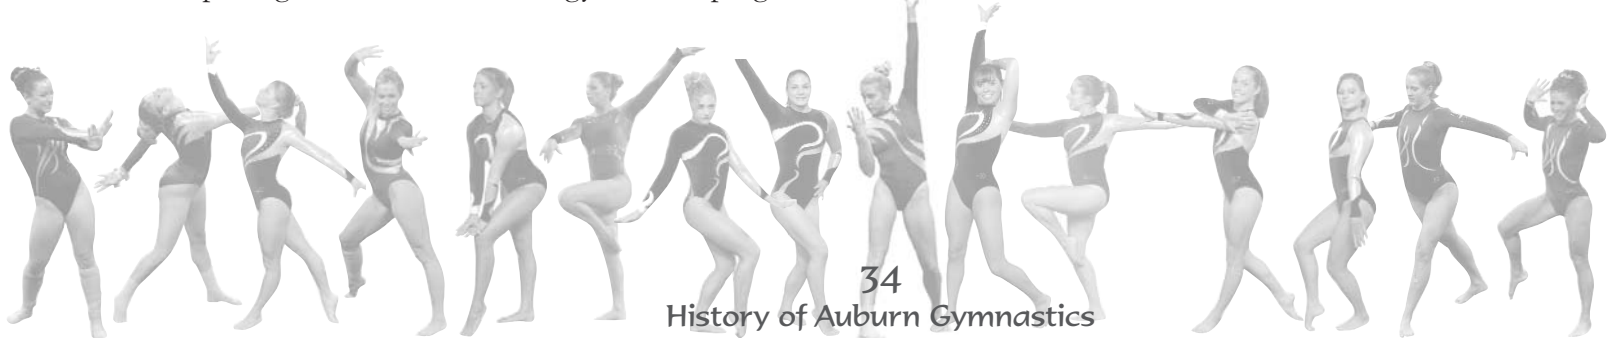

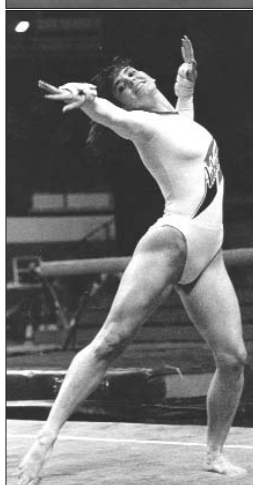

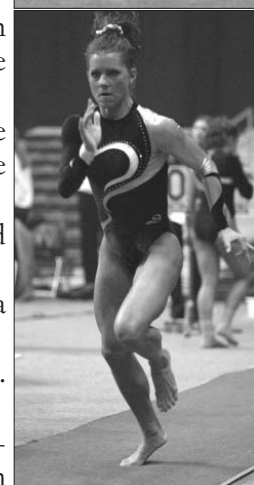

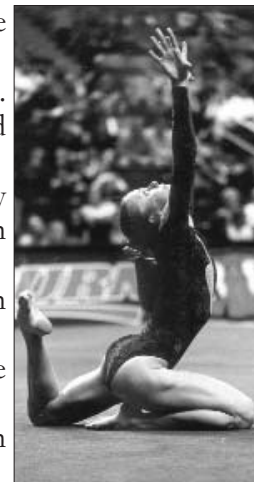

Under Thompson's tutelage, the Tigers set team records on the vault (49.350), on the bars (49.500), balance beam (49.325), floor (49.475) and overall (196.825).

Thompson's coaching also helped Sarah Wentworth set a school record in the all-around (39.450) and tie another with a perfect 10.000 on the bars. In 2002, he helped Sally Cantrell set a school record with a perfect 10.000 on the balance beam. Thompson coached Kristi Boyte and Courtney Puckett to new individual event records in the vault and all-around (39.500) in 2003.

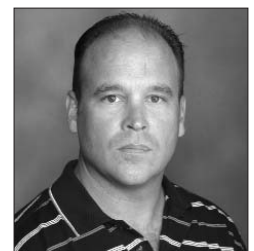

In 2003, Thompson coached his squad to its first appearance at the NCAA Championships since 1993. Thompson saw his first All-American, Courtney Puckett, in 2003, as she made the second team on bars.

Last season proved to be record-breaking as the Tigers notched new team marks on beam, floor and team total, as well as, tied the AU vault record. In the home meet against top-ranked Florida, Auburn earned a new team total of 197.000 and a new floor score of 49.600.

Since the completion of the McWhorter Center in 2001, the Tigers have had a top-notch training facility that has enabled them to improve upon their success. The facility has also gained national recognition and will continue to help the growth of the Auburn gymnastics program.
